A Dawn of Understanding

Year,

It's been wonderful knowing you. We've had a lot of fun in Algebra. Especially messing with Randy and making him mad. Always stay as cute & sweet as you are now and you'll always have a lot of friends. Hope you have a nice a summer as I plan to have. I'll probably be at the beach most of the time. I'll never forget about the time you got called down for messing with Randy and passing the bathing suit around. Hope you always get the best out of life, cause you deserve only the best. Always remember me as a good friend of yours. Maybe one of these days you'll find your one and only, which I've already found.

Stay Sweet and don't forget me next year when you're taking Algebra over again.

Jean,

Nothing quite like a first period English class, is there? Besides being hot, its boring. O-Well, its gonna be a great summer, only wish I was going to be here, but that the way it goes. Although we only met in a casual way I really enjoyed knowing you, and admired your faithfulness to the chore of studying. Best Wishes for a bright future, I know you'll go far.

School spirit highlights fall activities.

Memories of a last sail or of long lazy days filled with summer fun linger into the first few weeks of school. Sophomores try to give an air of nonchalance on Sophomore Day; however, this impression is reversed to one of bewilderment as they scurry through the seemingly complex maze of halls and stairways.

After the loss of that important football game to Enloe by only six inches, school spirit drops to its lowest point; however, the excitement of Homecoming activities revives it. Decorative floats, dressed in a regalia of orange and black crepe, lend a festive air to the Homecoming parade and game. A bus loaded with loyal Wildcat supporters cheer our team to victory over Fayetteville as the football season closes.

A highlight of social life, the Twirp Dance reverses social traditions as the girls treat their dates to an evening of dinner and dancing.

Recognition . . .

With pride a student steps forward to receive the National Honor Society pin and scroll—an honor known to only a few. The expression of joy on his face is outlined by the flickering light from the candle he holds. He has been rewarded for his accomplishments, but he must now look to a higher goal—college. Before him lies an assortment of baffling applications, transcripts, and the inevitable College Entrance Examination.

A firm down beat from the director brings forth the thunder of the "Finale" from Tchaikowsky's Symphony in F Minor No. 4. Concerts form an integral part of cultural activities and further broaden the musical appreciation of both the listener and the performer.

inspires leadership.

The frenzied Christmas rush catches students in a whirlwind of activities. At the Student Congress Christmas Dance, students help make Christmas brighter for those less fortunate. Glittering decorations lend the seasonal air to otherwise drab hallways and put the students in the Yuletide spirit. All too soon the holidays end, and exams loom.

Spring revives! Ahead lie long days crammed with activities—golf, sailing, tennis. Weary from studies, students revert to a second childhood as they frolic in snow, which fell silently and unexpectedly during a late January evening.

Highlighting spring's social calendar is the May Dance. At this, Pam Darden as head social marshal, presents the May Queen and her court.

For one night, eight special girls are transformed into Cinderellas. The ashes of everyday twinkle into fairy dust. They smile, and the May Dance whirls in the giddy magic of springtime. Cool grace, warm affection . . . their easy laughter infects those around them with a purity of joy they just can't quite explain. It's all so unbelievable—in a real sort of way.

The clock strikes midnight, but the dream doesn't vanish—dreams never die when someone remembers. And the golden fantasy of the 1965 May Court will never quite fade away—

Diploma . . .

A diploma—the symbol of achievement—is the goal of all students. Silently, but proudly, one anticipates the moment he steps across the platform to the threshold of a new world. He reflects on the past—its successes and failures for twelve years flashing in review before him. He has gained strength through accomplishments and has learned much from mistakes. High school's security will fade, but in the future lie new heights to be reached. Highlights of this most important phase of life will shine brightest in his memories. The pattern for a full, rich career lies before him; he steps with renewed courage to meet the awaiting world.

a passport to the future.

ADMINISTRATION AND FACULTY

In the abstract labyrinth of learning—
Too many words
Too many ideas
Too many faces—
Someone offers solidarity—
Correlation of facts
Stimulation of thoughts
Evaluation of ideals,
The student clings to this guidance
. . . A secure foundation for the future.

Intent on the referee's decision, Principal Wallace I. West supports the New Hanover team to victory.

Administration unifies faculty, students.

Hanging pictures of her young relatives, Miss Elizabeth Montgomery, Registrar, enjoys decorating her home.

Gathering camellias, Mrs. Elise Lane, Dean of Girls, lists working in her yard as her favorite hobby.

All departments of New Hanover High School are dependent upon the administration.

Under the leadership of Mr. West the staff met the challenge of overcrowded facilities. Accordingly, Mr. Schurrer and Mr. Capps became identified with the delivery of unwelcomed schedule changes.

In October students besieged the office of the deans, Mrs. Lane and Mr. Capps, asking permission to hear a campaign address in Wilmington by the Republican vice-presidential candidate.

The addition of Mrs. Wentz and Mr. Maultsby, sophomore and junior class counselors, and of Mrs. Fick, secretary to the county director of guidance, have made possible more individual student conferences.

Miss Montgomery, registrar, keeps school records, and compiles the honor rolls.

This administration has made New Hanover an institute of college or vocational preparation for all students.

Mrs. Pat Wentz and Mr. Paul Maultsby, Underclass Guidance Counselors, congratulate Mrs. Eleanor Fick, Guidance Secretary, on her new office.

Mr. Fred H. Capps, Dean of Boys, Assistant Principal, and Roger A. Schurrer, Associate Principal, relax from their daily schedules.

Responsible for building maintenance, Mr. Henry L. Yann, Custodian, replaces a defective lightbulb.

Mrs. Ruth Lodor, Dietitian, greets students in the cafeteria as she serves food from behind the counter.

Always present,

Continually working through both lunch hours, the maids empty trays to avoid chaos at the tray counter.

Masters of efficiency, the assistants co-ordinate our school.

Mrs. Mears, clerk, orders and distributes all textbooks to the student body.

Mrs. Radcliffe, secretary, types and files program cards for each student and handles correspondence for Mr. West.

Mondays and Fridays are the busiest days for Mrs. Boone, school nurse. She has about 1,000 patients each month.

Mrs. Lodor, dietitian, plans cafeteria menus and oversees its preparation. She also supervises the short order lunches—hotdogs, hamburgers, and milkshakes—in the Student Union.

A staff of thirteen men and women aid Mr. Vann, building superintendent, in keeping New Hanover clean and repaired.

The combined efforts of these assistants make school life enjoyable.

Mrs. Christine Boone, School Nurse, cleans a fresh cut to prevent infection.

Assistants maintain order and efficiency.

Mrs. Alice Mears, Clerk, hands a receipt over to Mrs. Priscilla Radcliffe, Secretary, to be filed.

Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Hood, Advanced, Elementary Bookkeeping, writes a check as Mrs. Julia Spencer, Typing I, Dictation and Transcription, totals the amount on an adding machine.

Mrs. Marguerite Owen, Shorthand I, Typing II, dictates notes to Mrs. Joan McGinnis, Personal Typing, Shorthand I, which, in turn, Mrs. Norma Grubbs, General Business, Typing I, types out.

Occupational skills prepare students.

Skill, accuracy, and occupational competence comprise the three-fold emphasis of the business department.

Increased enrollment in personal typing classes this year indicates the demand for typing skills in both academic and daily life.

The business education student gains practical experience by assisting at the guidance center, principal's office, or in various academic departments. He may obtain additional first-hand knowledge by participating in the Cooperative Training Office Practice, through which he secures employment at a local business establishment.

Skills learned in business education classes prepare the student to become a prudent citizen.

Mrs. Bernice D. White, Head of Business Department, CTOP, smiles as she reviews plans for the Business Department of the new high school.

Anxious for test copies Mrs. Ruth McDonald, Business English, Business Arithmetic, lifts them from the tray as Mrs. Geraldine West, Typing I, Elementary Bookkeeping, operates the mimeograph machine.

Archie Lewis and Tex Watkins work in the marvelous and complex world under the car's hood.

Mr. Paul Matthews, Basic Electricity, Basic Math, and Mr. Henry White, Electronics I, II, wonder where they left out that radio tube.

Col. A. D. Gorham, Mechanical Drawing I, II, checks a student's blueprint for accuracy.

Students prepare for

Jimmy Nichols learns the proper way to use the dynavision by Mr. Robert Pennington, Engines I, II.

Working today for a job of tomorrow, students of this department truly strive to become trained industrialists. The first year courses give the general fundamentals of the study, while the second year courses offer specialization and advanced work. Use of the actual instruments of the trade aid the student's studies.

Future architects find mechanical drawing essential to their occupation, which uses blueprints, projections, and lettering. Mechanics find machine shop a necessity. Carpentry students use their imaginations and skill to build cabinets, chairs, and other useful wooden objects. Electrical instruments and wiring are studied in electronics.

Through the experience gained in these practical courses come the trained industrialists of tomorrow.

Mr. James Watters, Machine Shop I, II, makes sure his tool is in proper condition before use.

career as trained industrialists.

Mr. Justin Kornegay, Carpentry I, II also knows the importance of keeping tools sharp, well-oiled, and in flawless condition.

Banquet highlights DE—ICT year.

Practical are the courses offered for students entering the business world after high school graduation. In Distributive Education and Industrial Co-operative Training the student spends the first four periods in various classes; then, at 12:30, he leaves for work at a local business. He earns a small salary, gets credit from the school, and achieves the "experience necessary" qualification of many jobs. Invaluable experience is gained as the prospective employees vie in job interview contests supervised by local merchants. Their study of advertising, selling methods, and human relations makes more competent businessmen of the participants.

Mr. William Hardee, Driver Education, steps into his day's work.

Mr. James Gearhart, Industrial Co-operative Training, I, II, and Mr. Alton Wright, Distributive Education, I, II, review their students' work.

Driver's Ed assures competent motorists.

To prepare themselves for the responsibilities of operating an automobile, ninety-five students enrolled in the Driver's Education course. The one semester course is a state requirement for obtaining a license. Students spend the first two school months in class, learning correct procedures which will lead to good driving habits. For the last school month individuals put their knowledge into practice with cars lent by local dealers. Study halls occupy the student's time while others are driving. A safer, experienced driver is the product of this course.

Supervised sports afford keen rivalry.

"Is that guy playing musical chairs?" "No, that's a basketball drill! He's building up his speed and co-ordination by dribbling the ball through the obstacle course." Push-ups, situps, and pullups keep the participants in the athletics department in top condition. Intramural basketball, soccer, and volleyball play an important part in the athlete's life; while ping pong provides stiff individual competition. Students find that learning the rules of the game are as important as the actual playing. Good sportsmanship, group co-operation, the sweet taste of a hard-earned victory, a sharper mind, and a stronger body reward the athletic student.

Mr. Fitzhugh Fennell, U. S. History, Physical Education, is content to watch Mr. Jap Davis, Physical Education, lift weights.

Intent on the game, Mr. Leon Brogden, County Director of Physical Education, meditates on the Wildeats' strategy.

"Game point!" as Mrs. Jean Tillitt, Physical Education, serves the ball.

Miss Connie Katson, Government, Mr. Edward Mayfield, U. S. History, Government, and Miss Brenda Jones, U. S. History, World History, appreciate the joke of the day by Mr. Gary E. Widenhouse, Director of Student Activities, Government.

Social studies widen world understanding.

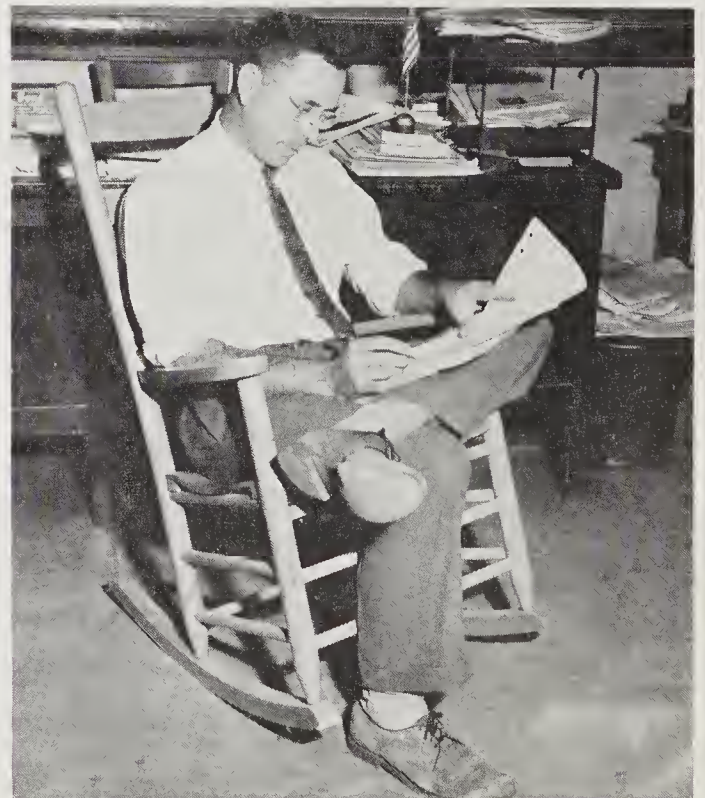

During this year of national elections, the social studies student has been especially concerned with distinguishing truth from hearsay and slander in news.

Under the skillful guidance of his instructors, the student develops an ability to evaluate political speeches and remarks of foreign nations.

The knowledge he gains through world and United States history enables him to understand better why a nation's society and government policies are as they are.

World-wide happenings—the addition of Communist China to the nuclear powered nations, the overthrow of authority in both weak and powerful nations, and Russia's continued progress in space explorations—point out daily the importance of his possessing understanding and pride in a free America if he is to maintain any hope of convincing other people of its merits.

Mr. William Bergeron, Head of Social Studies Department, Government, checks test papers while relaxing in his favorite chair.

Discussing quotes of both candidates, Miss Rebecca Russ, Government, and Mrs. Ruth Warren, Government, keep themselves aware of the latest campaign happenings.

Mrs. Rosann Whitten, Economics, Sociology, Hanoverian advisor, points out an interesting fact to Mr. John Patronis, Sociology, U. S. History.

Mr. George D. Hardee, U. S. History, Physical Education, looks in the file cabinet for additional information for Mr. Robert C. Hamilton, U. S. History and Sociology.

Hollywood-type film reviewers Mrs. Jean Doorley, U. S. History, Mr. James Meadows, U. S. History, and Col. W. Logan, Sociology, found The Road to the Wall to be one of the best movies this year.

Brewing a batch of rocket fuel are Mrs. Estelle LeGwin, Chemistry, Mr. Roger Averette, Physics, Biology, and Mrs. Kathryn Emmart, Chemistry.

Science uncovers amazing, complex world.

Leaf collections are a vital part of biology, so Mr. James Bilisoly, Biology, and Miss Linda Flamme, Biology, gather some samples.

Truth is stranger than fiction—so says the science student as he discovers a remarkable, new world. Exploring the basic concepts of his field, the student finds the lab challenging to his inquisitive mind. Aided by modern apparatus, students retrace the steps made by Hippocrates, Priestly, and Einstein, who laid the foundations of their studies. Startling similarities are found between a frog and man. Atoms, molecules, and elements . . . basics of the complex world which chemistry students seek to understand. Formulas, just letters before, have meaning as physics students derive them from common sense. Together, lab partners inspect Cleopatra the Cat, solve unknowns, and compute the acceleration of their hands, all under the guidance of lab assistants. For one thousand five hundred students, science offers adventure satiated with discoveries.

It's her nice having you.
Best thing
everybody should do is smile

Entering the microscopic world are Mrs. Emily Laughlin, Advanced Biology; Mrs. Mozelle Smith, Biology; and Mr. Philip Witherington, Biology, Advanced Biology.

Mrs. Dell Borneman, Advanced Biology, Head of the Science Department, discusses the oxygen-carbon-dioxide cycle.

Mr. Harvey Dunlevy, Senior Science, Advanced Algebra, marvels at Biology instructor Mr. Hal Stout's efficiency in preparing a frog for dissection.

Mr. William J. King, Algebra I, and Mr. Thomas B. Clark, Algebra I, Basic Math, review the exam bulletin with Miss Octavia Smith, Algebra II.

Miss Eloise Scott, Advanced Algebra, Trigonometry, and Miss Diane Bridi, Unified Geometry, Advanced Algebra, prepare lesson plans from the new textbooks.

Doing a daily chore, Mr. James M. Pigford, Head of Mathematics Department, Advanced Algebra, Solid Geometry, College Mathematics, writes class problems on an overhead projector sheet.

Challenge presented by math's variety.

Mathematics is the universal language; it is the basis of most sciences. Variety highlights the math courses of NHHS. Algebra uses its  $x$ 's,  $y$ 's, and  $z$ 's to solve everyday problems. Solid geometry, the study of figures in space, is in its final year, as contemporary geometry, introduced last year, covers both solid and plane geometry. Surveyors, astronomers, and physicists all find a practical use for geometry. Sines, cosines, and tangents are basic ingredients of trigonometry study.

Illustrative equipment is used beneficially by instructors; overhead projectors have proved their value in the classroom. Moon study, chemistry, physics, and the science of the future will depend on the mathematical ability of their engineers.

Mrs. Nancy Horton, General Math, Algebra I, discuss the results of a graph which Miss Maie Sanders, Algebra II, has just drawn.

Mrs. Louise Turner, Unified Geometry, holds a solid geometry figure while Miss Ruth Galloway, Unified Geometry, Algebra II, and Mr. Adrian B. Rhodes, Unified Geometry, Algebra II, fit corresponding planes into it.

Mrs. Elizabeth West, French II, III, puts on her new French album for Mrs. Elizabeth Boles, English II, French I, to hear.

Miss Martha Pat Archbell, Latin I, II, previews her slides of Rome with Mrs. Ida Mintz, Latin I, General Business.

Through playing Spanish bingo, Spanish I students learn to associate new words and ideas.

Reading a Mexican newspaper, Mr. Taylor Gilmour, Spanish I; Miss Linda Baxter, Spanish I, English 10; Miss Nina Overton, Spanish I, II; and Mr. Frank Farrow, Spanish II, III, acquaint themselves with the latest happenings in Central America.

Languages taught by audio-lingual.

Language is the key to universal understanding. The student is taught not only to read and speak a language, but also to appreciate its culture.

Knowledge of Latin declensions, roots, and conjugations prepares the student for studies in French and Spanish. By translating portions of Caesar's writings, the Latin II student learns more of Roman politics and warfare.

Dialogues and the singing of folksongs make French seem more real to the student. French II students read The Black Tulip, a short French novel, while French III students learn more of the French countryside and heritage.

An increased enrollment in Spanish this year—a total of 600 students—required the addition of two teachers to the department. Parallel readings in Spanish literature widen the student's scope of comprehension.

The audio-lingual method is the main technique used in teaching both Spanish and French. Frequent lessons in the language lab test the student's individual knowledge.

Mrs. Virginia Maynard, Head of Language Department, Spanish II, explains the history behind her Latin American souvenirs.

enjoyed having you in class, J. G. Martin

"Too many cooks?" Mrs. Shirley Glover, Home Economics II, Mrs. Margaret Paulson, Director of Home Economics, Home Economics III, and Mrs. Laura Martin, Home Economics I, II, try to disprove the old adage.

Future Homemakers train for lifework.

Home economics prepares the student to become a successful homemaker.

Under the supervision of three instructors, classes are trained in domestic skills.

To prepare balanced meals, the student must know the chemical content of food.

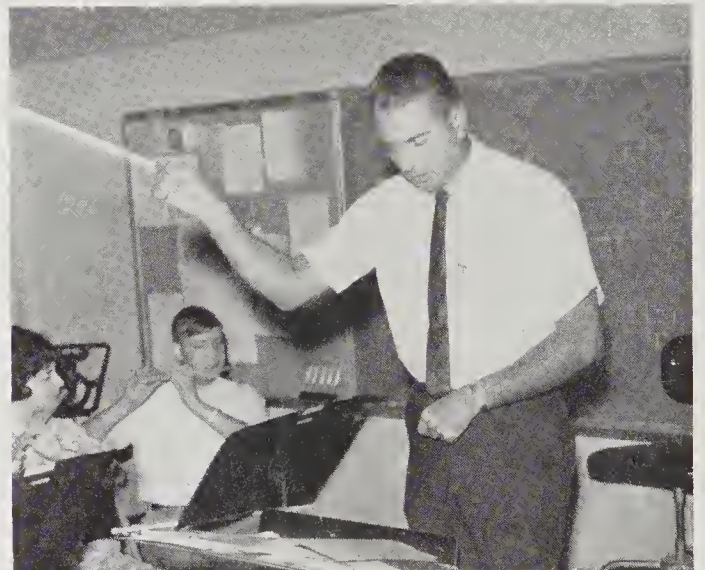

Also, home economics teaches the student the characteristics of materials and how to tailor clothes from them.

For the first time at NHHS, a boy has joined the 275 girls in home economics. Planning to remain single, a knowledge of cooking and sewing will aid him in his daily life.

Singers, Band rate highly in contests.

Let there be music—music for pep rallies, Christmas programs, and spring concerts. Consumer music for the high school listener and a course in theory for advanced high school musicians are new in the department's curriculum. The 350 musicians in Hanover Singers, Girls' Chorus, Boys' Chorus, and the Band consistently rate highly in district and state contests.

Mr. Bill Adcock, Instrumental Music, Music Theory, strikes up the band.

Mr. Bob Alexander, Vocal Music, Consumer Music, tries his ear at identifying a classical Beate masterpiece.

Blocking a scene from South Pacific is Mrs. Janie Yates, Dramatics, Speech, and Stage Crafts instructor.

South Pacific shows all drama aspects.

Turning fiction into reality and reality into fiction, whether painting scenery for South Pacific or speaking on behalf of a candidate, a student in the drama department learns to express himself creatively and to communicate artistically. Through Thespian activities and production of radio shows, 175 drama students apply their knowledge practically.

This annual scene on the front lawn is the Art Department's contribution to NHHS's Christmas decorations.

Art transfers idea, thought to canvas.

Appropriate changes in the lobby showcase and Industrial Building window display, the annual Christmas scene on the front lawn and the featured Homecoming float are projects of the Art Department.

Mr. Jay Arledge, Art I, II, III, criticizes an advanced student's painting.

Interpreting a Biblical passage for inquisitive students, Miss Ruth Spence, Bible I, II, leads them in daily inspiration.

Students live Bible's philosophy.

Using slides taken last summer of the Holy Land, Bible students journey to the original setting of their course. These one hundred pupils study the Bible for its implied meaning as well as factual significance. In their class within Trinity Church the students seek knowledge which will enable them to apply the message of God to their own lives. The course, which is sponsored by Wilmington's churches, gives its participants a fuller education and one which will benefit them throughout life. Above all, the student remembers that whereas customs change with time, God's word is eternal.

Scholars enjoy best literature, music.

"You have another blue slip." Overdue notices! Delivering overdue notices is one of the many duties library service students perform. These thirty students work with Miss O'Keef and Miss Cromartie to keep the library orderly and ready for use. The display cabinets are rearranged periodically, featuring the nine hundred new books which arrive in December. Also new is the audio equipment, donated by the 1964 senior class. Now musical as well as literary masterpieces may be enjoyed.

December means excitement for Miss Martha Cromartie and Miss Fannie O'Keef, Librarians, as they unpack the new books.

Miss Ruth Skinner, English 12, and Mrs. Diane Burton, English 12, seem happy to be through with exams.

Themes, memory work encourage creativity.

“Why can’t the English teach their children how to speak?” queries Henry Higgins in My Fair Lady. So twenty-one Professor Higginses take two thousand seven hundred Eliza Doolittles as students in correct grammar, punctuation usage, and extensive vocabulary study.

Miss Katherine Wicker, English 12, V, greets her class for the day’s study of Beowulf.

Miss Frances Formy-Duval, Head of English Department, English V, checks for creativity in a student’s theme.

Mrs. Peggy Gandy, English 9, 11, and Mr. James Potter, English 11, discuss the advantages of the new English texts.

Miss Clara Payne, English 10, treats Mrs. Joyce Weathers, English 10, 10S, to a drink in the newly decorated teachers' lounge.

Faculty stairs offer a shortcut to the library and extra reference material for Miss Martha Stack, English 11; Mrs. Mary Lou Roberson, English 11, 11E; and Mrs. Margaret Geary, English 11, 12.

Grammar, literature prove complementary.

Macbeth has a new flavor as seniors read it in class and then see a modern presentation on stage by the Thespians. Juniors dig into the philosophies of the American writers, Emerson and Thoreau; while the sophomores struggle through Silas Marner, Julius Caesar, and Idylls of the King. From the best of the poetry and essays come the inevitable memory lines.

Exams are over! and Mrs. Betty McCumber, English 10, 11, Miss Judy Ann Ellenburg, English 10E, 11, and Mrs. Janice Harbin, English 10, 12, joyfully depart from testing.

Mrs. Modlin, English 11E, Journalism I, II (Wildcat), and Miss Dobson, English 10E, Hanoverian, pack for the press conference at Washington and Lee University.

Mr. Richard Henderson, English 10; Mrs. Helen Younger, English 10; and Mr. Donald Farthing, English 10, head to the Student Union for an after-school break.

Jean,
I am very glad I've had the pleasure of knowing you! Best luck always to a wonderful girl!

After the final revision and ratification of the constitution at the close of the last school year, the 1964-1965 judicial court faced its immense task of interpretation. Each week the six judges, elected by the Student Congress, try alleged law-breakers. Daily, at assigned posts on the campus, voluntary judicial marshals regulate campus traffic and apprehend violations.

The social marshals' work continues into December with the job they all seem to enjoy—decorating a Christmas tree in the lobby. Through this friendly effort, they are able to arouse the spirit and the excitement of Christmas in the school.

Two dances are sponsored by the social marshals during the second semester. At the Valentine Dance, they announce the King and Queen of Hearts. Later, in May the marshals drape the Student Union with beauty in which to present and crown the May Queen and her court.

Their final contribution is the Student Congress Tea. This activity concludes a year of campus life personalized by the grace of social marshals.

These efforts all aim at developing, for its members, an insight into world events and problems.

Assisting handicapped students in their walk and movement about the campus was only one project of the Interacts, who serve both school and community. The club also sponsored buses to out-of-town activities and contributed to an organization designed to help needy families.

To aid in increasing club funds, members participated in a car wash, held at a local shopping center. In addition, the club presented emblems to students of high academic standing.

Members of the Key Club sold programs at the school football games, attended church monthly as a group, and worked at Boys' Brigade four nights a week.

The club also sponsored campaigns for safe driving and campus clean up. Members held banquets honoring both teachers and parents, serving at each; they gave food and NHHS Bible Club, represented on the state level by Nancy Meadows as state secretary, actively participates in the state wide retreats held twice a year near Winston-Salem. During the year there were several campaigns in which members participated to increase attendance to the devotional time.

Several new projects were sponsored this year by the club. Members fully supported a handicapped overseas orphan, organized a Bible Club at a junior high school, and conducted seasonal gatherings at the Catherine Kennedy Home, bringing cheer into the lives of the residents.

The Key Club Award for outstanding school service came to the Bible Club for providing seasonal scriptural booklets to all students desiring them.

Handbook acquaints students with NHHS.

Especially helpful to sophomores, the Orange and Black Handbook provides for all students answers to countless questions. It serves as a guide to familiarize students with the new constitution, customs and traditions, club activity, and shift class schedules. Orange and black in color, the cover of the 1964-65 edition proudly displays the NHHS seal. During the summer the ten members of the handbook committee worked diligently so that 3,000 copies could be distributed to the homerooms in September.

Telephone Directory aids communication.

A black antique telephone decorates the white cover of the 1964-1965 edition of the Telephone Directory. Staff members worked industriously to publish the seventy-six pages of names and numbers.

The handy, pocket-size directory which includes name, address, and phone number of each student and faculty member is a convenience to all but a necessity for sophomores, transfers, and new teachers.

Nancy Mason pauses to look over Mary Anna Porter's suggestion.

Center of attraction for students, the WILDCAT is an accurate and comprehensive source of knowledge at NHHS. Editorials, class elections, and sports highlight each issue. "Sophomores Vote Today," "Brazilian Student Discovers Differences in Curriculum," "ROTC Enlarges," "Honor Society to Sponsor Coaches in Tutoring Service . . .," "Student Congress Initiates Howdy Week"—headlines show student energy.

Hanoverian treasures

Beginning in the fall semester, members of the Hanoverian staff, worked earnestly to produce a yearbook worthy of recognition, a treasure of New Hanover High School memories of the year 1964-1965. Although much work went into the compilation of this annual, the staff has gained infinite rewards in return: the satisfaction of having completed a task and of having participated in a school production, the educational experience in the publication field, and the

You are a nice girl, and a cute one too. May God bless you and keep you in his care. May he guide you footsteps your whole life through. I'm sorry that we could not have been in some of the same classes together. It would have been fun. You have a wonderful personality and a good sense of humor. Keep it and you will go far in this (crazy) world. I am glad you are my friend.

A field goal proved to be the deciding factor in the game as the Capitols of Raleigh Broughton defeated New Hanover, 3-0. The 'Cats' next two outings were both decided by one point each. Wilmington was the victor in the first game against the Jacksonville Cardinals, 13-12, but fell to the 'Quakes of Goldsboro, 14-13. The Wilson Cyclones were the choice for New Hanover's Homecoming Game. Wilson emerged victorious in a defensive battle by the score of 7-0. Still seeking their first conference victory, the Wildcats traveled to Durham to play the Bulldogs. Showing a swift attack, the home club ousted the Port City pack, 32-0. In the last affair of the season, Wilmington showed explosive strength to defeat highly rated Fayetteville, 13-7.

Wildkittens prepare for varsity duty.

Our Junior Varsity opened its season very optimistically by soundly defeating a Whiteville team, 32-0. The next three games refused to go their way, however, and the Jayvees were downed by Enloe, 22-14, and in two real tension contests to Broughton and Goldsboro, by 8-7 and 13-7. Urged on by a spirit of determination and led by their coaches, Paul Maultsby and Hal Stout, the Wildkittens came roaring back to take a win from Wilson, 13-12. The Kittens then began extensive work for the final game with Fayetteville. Under the lights at Legion Stadium, "Maultsby's Raiders" defeated the highly rated Bulldog Junior Varsity, 38-24, for a balanced final record of three wins and three losses.

Wildcats show balanced attack.

Opening the '64-'65 season at home, Coach Leon Brogden's Wildcats rolled over Jacksonville, 56-36. Edwards Military Institute handed New Hanover its first loss, 59-49, but the aroused hometown team came back to defeat High Point, 53-50. At Jacksonville the 'Cats stomped the Cardinals, 74-49, as plans for an away Christmas tournament in Durham were made. This tournament proved fruitful for Wilmington, for the 'Cats defeated Decatur and Westminster, Georgia, 48-42 and 76-48. Conference play saw the Port City Five lose to Rocky Mount, 45-36. Durham handed the 'Cats defeat again, 55-47. New Hanover found victory against Wilson, 72-62, but found Fayetteville too much for a Starting the second round of conference play, the 'Cats ran their streak to four wins by taking Rocky Mount, 54-49. A drought hit the home team, however, as Durham overtook them, 68-56. Wilson then squeaked one, 52-50, and Fayetteville followed suit with a 69-55 score. The Wildcats put on their best show of the season by stomping Raleigh Enloe, 87-55. Victory continued against Goldsboro, 47-46, and Broughton, 64-59. New Hanover bowed out in the first round of the Eastern 4-A play-offs against Broughton, 59-56.

Wildkittens show winning season.

The Wildkittens opened their season hopefully by trouncing Jacksonville's Jayvees, 51-34. Following a 52-48 victory over the Brigade Boys' Club, the 'Kittens again put Jacksonville away, 56-44, but found Shalotte High too much, 51-38. Conference play opened with Rocky Mount's Junior Club, who defeated the Jayvees, 55-45. Dropping three more in a row and then taking three in a row, Wilmington's Junior Varsity opened second round play over Rocky Mount, 45-44. With seven games remaining, the local club managed four wins for a respectable season's record of eleven wins and eight losses.

First row: M. Simmons, F. Harrell, L. McIver, C. Dunn, D. Foushee, B. Wiard, Mgr. Second row: J. Harris, N. Potter, R. Utsey, N. Holleman, G. Allen, H. Boylan, C. Hegele, T. Newton.

Wrestling makes debut at NHHS.

Introduced as a new part of the athletic curriculum at New Hanover this year, wrestling has made a popular appeal. Heading the team into an array of numerous matches was Coach Taylor Gilmour. Assisting was Coach Thomas Clark. Although the Wildcats were unable to win a match, they did place one man in the state meet. Bernie Braak, undefeated in the regular season, received this honor.

Wildcat nine captures Eastern 4A Crown.

Starting off the 1964 season with a bang, Coach Buck Hardee's Wildcats trounced the Jacksonville Cardinals, 19-2, in non-conference play. Wilmington then defeated Northwood College, 4-3, and pulled one out of the fire against Fayetteville in the conference opener, 5-2. Raleigh Enloe handed New Hanover its first taste of defeat, 4-3, in twelve innings. After being shaken, 6-4, by Goldsboro, the 'Cats blanked Raleigh Broughton, 5-0, on Gene Russ's no-hitter. Rocky Mount's Blackbirds used a sound defense in whipping the home town club, 2-0, but the Port City boys buckled down by defeating Durham, 10-6.

Seniors Butch Bradley and Darrel Kohel lead the 1964 team as co-captains.

First row: E. Lewis, J. Simmons, J. Martin, S. Dew, D. Whisnant, D. Kohel, J. Kaylor. Second row: G. Russ, J. King, W. Johnson, J. Burris, S. Long, F. O'Brien, B. Bradley, P. Daughtry.

Junior Wayne Johnson rounds third and heads for home.

Wilmington ended the first round in conference play with an 11-0 win over Wilson. Stacking up four wins in a row, the 'Cats outlasted Fayetteville and Raleigh Enloe by 2-1 and 4-3, respectively. Wilmington then defeated arch-rival Goldsboro, 3-1, followed by a relatively easy 4-2 mark over Raleigh Broughton. Last inning singles provided a 2-1 victory over Rocky Mount. Going down the home stretch, Wilmington defeated Durham, 6-0, and squeaked by Wilson, 4-2, for a tie with Goldsboro for the Eastern 4-A crown. In the play-off game, the Port City Nine defeated Goldsboro, 3-1, and then drove past Greensboro Page of the Central 4-A loop, 5-2, for a state play-off berth with Greensboro. Winning 1-0 in the first game of a best two-out-of-three series, the Wildcats lost the two following games, 12-7 and 5-0, to end the season.

Junior varsity shows good potential.

The Wildkittens, seeking their first win, lost to Topsail, 2-1, in a last inning heart-breaker. In another away contest the Jayvees defeated Bolivia, 7-0. Upon returning home, the powerful Kittens defeated Dixon, 18-9, and shut out Topsail, 2-0, on Kemp Gregory's no-hitter. A disastrous road trip resulted in 8-0 and 5-3 losses to Goldsboro and Wallace. Doug Fox got the win in a 6-5 victory over Southport, while Jerry Simmons collected two hits. Following a 5-4 loss to Goldsboro, the junior club defeated Bolivia, 13-3, and Leland, 7-0. Closing out a successful season of ten wins and four losses, the Kittens defeated Leland, 4-3, at Leland.

Varsity Sweetheart receives her honors.

Tension mounted in the New Hanover High School Student Union as time for the announcement of the 1965 Football Varsity Sweetheart came near. Everyone voiced his approval as Cheri Williams' name rang out over the amplifier. Members of the football squad each year elect the Varsity Sweetheart. Along with the selection of Cheri, End Sam Long was named the most Valuable Player and Melvin Batson became the Cheerleaders' Sweetheart as the gala atmosphere of the Football Finals Dance found expression through the festive activities of the evening.

Cheerleaders bring spirit to game.

With the start of football, the returning cheerleaders of New Hanover High School once more dragged their uniforms out of mothballs. Following a period of tryouts, the squad was selected and alternates named. The alternate's responsibility is to replace a regular cheerleader if she is absent or to take turns cheering with the group. The cheerleaders elected Nancy Lou Nicks for this year's head cheerleader and Elane Beal as her alternate. Appearing in either black or white uniforms with orange lettering, the Pom Pom girls were a main factor in promoting school spirit. They led the students in cheers at the games and encouraged attendance and participation in the pep rallies and other school functions. Miss Nina Overton instructed the girls, who received help from the Junior Varsity cheerleaders and highly-spirited Wildcat mascot, Preston Alexius.

Golf team prepares for play.

A favorite sport of many people, but played well by only a few, is golf. New Hanover is very lucky to have many boys who are exceptional golfers. Practicing at either the Pine Valley Country Club, the Cape Fear Country Club, or the Municipal Golf Course, this year's team has numerous returnees of some experience, and a few veterans of many rounds in competition.

Qualifying rounds for the new try-outs to the golf team were held early in March, and the cream of the crop were selected for membership this year. Coach Jasper Davis, conductor of these rounds, will lead his team into play, starting March 16.

NHHS netters begin with spring.

Showing outstanding progress, the Wildcat netmen continue to improve each year. With five members returning, this year's team has practiced faithfully. From 2:30 P.M. on into the afternoon on fair days, one may find the tennis team in action on the courts at Cape Fear Country Club. Ability to move fast and think quickly is very important in achieving the necessary court maneuvers that a good tennis player must have.

Coach Rich Henderson, a welcome newcomer to New Hanover, has spent many hours teaching new tricks, positions, and stances to the boys. Hard work and desire to perfect plays will help the team this spring.

In the interest of good sportsmanship the Girls' Athletic Association each year builds good public relations through its services to the school and the community. Members of the GAA, who do not have to be in gym classes, pay yearly dues and may stay after school for organized club activities. Such activities are volleyball, softball, basketball, tumbling, table tennis, bowling, badminton, and tennis. Each girl participates and is taught to play several sports quite skillfully. Intramural tournaments are held which provide wide enjoyment for the girls who play only for their own entertainment. Two of the most important tournaments are held in volleyball and basketball. The members are divided up into several teams with a captain appointed from each. A regular schedule is then followed to determine the winning team.

On January 16th of this year the GAA, under the direction of Mrs. Tillitt, conducted their annual campaign for the March of Dimes. Meeting in the Cape Fear Hotel early in the morning, the girls made ready by blowing up hundreds of balloons and tying them to sticks. Then, advancing onto the streets, they sold the balloons for whatever the purchaser wished to donate. Approximately seven-hundred dollars was turned over to the March of Dimes.

The duties of planning the various tournaments and projects for the association are placed on the Athletic Council. Officers elected this year are Patty Musselwhite, president; Jo Ann Farr, vice-president; Rhonda Roberts, secretary; Elizabeth Jenkins, treasurer; Sylvia Larson, point recorder; Donna Poole, program chairman; and Peggy Thompson, social chairman.

Cadet Officers

After two years of much work and learning, last year's NCO's become this year's officers. As they receive their diamonds or discs, the only thoughts are those of the future responsibilities. With the help of the Tactical NCO's the officers teach what they have learned in previous years. # CLASSES

Changing classes—
Mass confusion,
Yet order . . .

Sophomores—
Outwardly confident,
Inwardly quake in their new environment.

Juniors—
Enmeshed in extracurricular activities,
Slave for that cherished recognition.

Seniors—
Pensively reflecting on past successes and failures,
Assimilate their random knowledge into concrete aims.

SOPHOMORE CLASS

Bubbling with excitement, the enormous rising sophomore class takes the giant step into high school. Each tenth-grader looks forward to days of fun and work, with goals to be reached and knowledge to be gained.

All too soon comes the time for sophomores to choose intelligently their class officers, senators, and representatives to Student Congress. By presenting the best Twirp Dance ever, the sophomore class works as a unit. At games and pep rallies, in clubs and organizations, and at social functions, sophomores begin to show school spirit and unbridled enthusiasm in simply being themselves.

Among all the new experiences of high school, one in particular stands out—exams, but the ever-ready sophomores handle these with ease and accept them as just another part of growing up.

Quickly the year passes, and the mammoth sophomore class numbering 1,229 now looks forward to becoming New Hanover's best juniors. Each member carries with him his world of new experiences, tempered by the maturity gained as a '64 sophomore.

JUNIOR CLASS

Rising at last from the rank of sophomores, juniors take on greater responsibilities of leadership. By helping to sell programs at ball games and tickets to out-of-town games, juniors display their evergrowing school spirit. The Homecoming Game and Football Finals Dance create the social life for the beginning of their busy year. Chemistry experiments and American novels add to their store of knowledge. Mid-term arrives, and with its passing juniors begin scheduling conferences with Mr. Maultsby to make plans for college. They crowd the ring booth as they choose their treasured class rings. Their first Junior-Senior is a successful and memorable event. May is the month for junior inductions into the National Honor Society. Final exams mark the end of a busy and memorable year. As they depart for the summer, juniors wistfully eye the senior steps and begin making plans for their final year as upperclassmen.

SENIOR CLASS

Graduation, heretofore a vague and obscure prospect, is now a reality. The graduate pauses momentarily to reflect, and he remembers . . . the familiar and the unfamiliar; the record-breaking enrollment and the thrill of being a senior with all the privileges and responsibilities it entails; the wild sound of WILD radio blaring in the Student Union and the mad scramble for the cafeteria line; the novel ideas of new teachers and the keen perception of more experienced ones; the distribution of ID cards and the entrancing atmosphere of the Junior-Senior; the strained expressions of the cross-country harriers and the resounding of leather on the hardcourt . . .

Suddenly, poignant memories are cast aside, and once again the senior is acutely aware of the present and, more importantly, of the future. He now recognizes the sobering truth: a new day, a new life is upon him. The future of widening horizons and broadening responsibilities summons him. He hears the call—and he answers.

Year,

It has been a real pleasure knowing you this year.
Best Wishes, Good Luck, and Happiness in the Future!
(Keep that bright smile)

but I'll be so proud of you and your dreams!

*A dream, yes
It has been wonderful and you will never forget it. It's in your heart and it will always be there.*

EPILOGUE

The sun sets on another year.

Perhaps

It was all a dream—
Another bubble—
So full of life's wonders that it surely must burst.

Yet somehow

This bubble is different.
It's bigger
And sturdier
And everything in it is easier to see.

The sunset of youth approaches,
But the light of this year's understanding
Will ever lead to another morning.

Jean,
To a very sweet girl. I have enjoyed being in your class & hope to see you next year.

Good luck,
Raney Merritt

Jean, I've been a pleasure knowing
you. Best wishes always. Best of luck in the next two years at N.H. H.S.
Carolyn Eakins

Jean,
Well here it is:
The end of the year.
(Great! in a way) In a way
I wish that the year was just beginning. I'm really going to miss you in English II. You're a great person with a spanking
